

German Democratic Republic

LECTURE OUTLINE FOR MILITARY AND POLITICAL TRAINING

25X1

25X1

lecture outline for military and political training of military units

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

The military topics covered include: the basic principles of defensive engagements, the two types of defensive action, requirements for defense, elements necessary in defense, organization of the system of fire in defense, engineer preparations necessary for defense, command and communications preparations required in defense, order of battle for defense, basic principles of the organization of defense by the commander, tactical symbols, tactical weapons symbols, general symbols, military boundaries, the use of medium mortar units in attack and defense, attacks in wooded areas, attacks by night and during fog, map coordinates, combat work sheets, the defense of towns, the utilization of communications services, the tactical situation, the significance and general duties of engineer units during attack, the employment of engineer units and equipment during attack, the employment of engineer units and equipment in defense, the air force in attack and on the defense.

The political topics covered include: discussion of the Mensheviks and the Bolsheviks, the causes of the Revolution, the beginning of the Revolution, details of the Revolution, the Bolshevik Party in the years of the upsurge of the workers' movement before World War I, the Bolshevik Party during the preparations for and the staging of the great Socialist October Revolution.

RETURN TO CIA LIBRARY

25X1

SECURITY INFORMATION